as increasing attention is drawn to globalization questions arise about the fate of the nation a political and social unit that for centuries has seemed the common sense way to organize the world in nation work timothy brook and andr schmid draw together eight essays that use historical examples from asian countries china india korea and japan to enrich our understandings of the origin and growth of nations asia provides fertile ground for this inquiry the volume argues because in asia the history of the modern nation has been inseparable from global influences in the form of western imperialism yet while the impetus for building a modern national identity may have come from the need to fashion a favorable place in a world system dominated by western nations those engaged in nationalist enterprises found their particular voices more often in relation to tensions within asia than in relation to more generic tensions between asia and the west with topics ranging from public health measures in nineteenth century japan through textual scholarship of tamil intellectuals the willful division of korea s history from china s the development of china s cotton industry and the meaning of postnationalism for chinese artists the essays reveal the fascinating array of sites at which nation work can take place this will be essential reading for historians and social scientists interested in asia timothy brook is professor of history stanford university andr schmid is assistant professor of east asian studies university of toronto bringing together cutting edge multidisciplinary papers that weigh in on central issues of the world and social science the collection consider power elites and nonelites in a new inclusive way drawing in researchers who deal with topics central to elite theory but who might not be represented in more classic statements of it with the rise of industrial capitalism in europe and the related imposition of colonial rule in much of east asia both europe and east asia have intertwined histories that continue to shape their political thinking and political decision making the contemporary interactions of the two regions now once again major trading partners will both depend upon and facilitate deeper understandings of their respective sets of national pasts this book compares national pasts as well as the current processes of change taking place in europe and east asia including the dynamics of the european union in europe and the re emergence of the historical centre of china in east asia it argues that as the change unfolds in the economic social and political fields the various national pasts embedded with the polities of the two regions will also need to be revisited and reworked this book makes an invaluable contribution to research on comparative politics as well as studies on south east asia and europe the observation of a rising asia and its rapidly growing economic powerhouses has become a truism these impressive economic development stories provide the backbone for the growing political assertiveness in the region asia s economic prowess is rapidly being transferred onto the diplomatic stage in the light of these larger developments the authors of this timely volume investigate the regional and international implications of a rising asia and problematise critical developments the first section focuses on the lack of a proper regional security community in asia the second part analyses the usefulness of asia as a catch all for very distinct sub regions while not denying the utility of the concept of asia as one region the authors support the need to maintain in parallel a clear focus on issues approaches and characteristics that are unique to sub regions within the continent a third group of authors probe the regional foreign policies of key players in the region exploring the security strategies and diplomacies of major regional actors this book is aimed both at researchers and advanced students of central asia the space of the former ussr and the foreign policy of russia and china the authors adopt a sociological approach in understanding how power structures emerged in the wake of the soviet collapse the independencies in central asia did not happen as a consequence of a nationalist struggle but because the ussr imploded thus instead of the elites being replaced the same soviet elites who had competed for power in the previous system continued to do so in the new one which they had to build adapting themselves and the system to their needs additionally unlike in the immense majority of the independent states that emerged from decolonization the social movements and capacity to mobilize the people were very weak in the new central asian states for this reason the configuration of the new systems was the product of a competition for power between a very small number of elites who did not have to answer to the people and their demands thus the new power regimes acquired a strong neopatrimonial component analyzing the structure of societies economies and polities of post socialist states this book will be of great interest to scholars of central asia to sociologists and to scholars of china s rise
